DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's response filed February 13, 2008 has been received and considered.

Claims 1-8 have been canceled. Claims 9-19 are currently pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 9,10 and 12-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schwarz et al. in view of Pollinger or Austin.

Regarding claims 9,14 Schwarz et al. shows a hub secured to a rotor (with a space there-between) using a stud or bolt at 3. See the abstract and note that "pins bolts or the like" can be used to secure the hub 2 to the disc 4.

Lacking in Schwarz et al. is a showing of using a bushing surrounding the pin or bolt arrangement.

However it is notoriously well known in the mechanical arts to surround a pin, stud, or bolt with a bushing (such a brass bushing) to protect against the effects of friction and thermal expansion.

The references to Pollinger at 12 and Austin at 75 are relied upon to teach this well known arrangement.

According one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention would have found it obvious to have provided the stud, pin or bolt at 3 of Schwarz et al. with such a bushing for the reason above.

4. Claims 14-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gebhardt et al. in view of Pollinger and Schwarz et al.

Regarding claims 14-16 Gebhardt et al. shows in the several embodiments two relatively movable elements 13 and 14 used to secure the brake disc 5 to the hub 2,3. Note only one arrangement is shown but presumably there are two other similar arrangements that have not been shown (such as illustrated in Pollinger), thereby meeting the requirement of having "at least two pairs of bodies, with each pair including two bodies inserted into one another..."

Lacking is a description that these pairs can be secured into a hub-rotor arrangement via a casting process.

The reference to Schwarz et al. shows a similar securing arrangement to that of Pollinger. In column 2 lines 23-40 Schwarz et al. states a number of different options can be employed to secure the hub to the rotor, one of which includes molding the pins into the bearing part by a casting in process.

One having ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to have cast the movable sleeve arrangement in Gebhardt et al. into the hub-rotor 2,5, as taught by Schwarz et al., as an obvious engineering alternative to that of Gebhardt et al.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 9-19 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
